Watchdog praises improving services

IT'S OFFICIAL! A respected independent watchdog has put Southampton's Liberal Democrat-led Council among the best in the Country for the third year running. The national Audit Commission describes Southampton as 'a good Council improving well'.

Every one of Southampton's service areas has come through a rigorous assessment as either 'excellent' or 'good'.

Senior Liberal Democrat councillor, Paul Russell has welcomed the news. 'Social Services and Leisure are particular successes - they score the maximum stars,' said Cllr Russell. Environment and Transport are up from a shocking 'poor' rating under Labour.

The Audit Commission also praised the city's Lib Dem Council for its efforts to tackle anti-social behaviour. An independent inspection has declared the City's Safety team one of the best in the country.

There is more good news for our schools, which this year achieved their best results ever.

ECO-ACTION

SOUTHAMPTON'S Lib Dem Council has won national recognition for environmental action.

A trial to run street lights on solar power has been applied for.

The city already has solar powered bus shelters and even parking meters.

Councillor Peter Galton gets a helping hand to recycle his garden waste. Under the Lib Dems the Council has won a Green Apple award in recognition of its environmental record.

Tax rises kept low but Council Tax must go says senior City Councillor

FOR THE THIRD year running the Liberal Democrats have delivered a lower Council Tax increase.

This year's 3.89% is the lowest for many years, comparing favourably with Conservative Hampshire County Council's 4.7%, and Labour's whopping 18.6% increase during their last year in office in the city. This despite increased demands and reduced grant in real terms, from Government.

SAVINGS
During their 3 years in office the Lib Dems have found over £17 millions of savings.

Swaythling Councillor Dave Beckett, Cabinet Member for Resources, says: 'No wonder the independent Audit Commission describes Southampton as a low cost Council.'

Cllr Beckett slammed the Conservatives as offering a 'Harry Potter' budget which promised to slash taxes while offering vote-catching spending increases.

UNREALISTIC PROMISES
Labour, too, were promising 'all sorts of unrealistic goodies.' Cllr Beckett pointed out that Labour always propose the highest Council Tax level.

'The only way to end annual tax hikes and to have a fair system is to scrap the Council Tax altogether,' added Cllr Beckett. 'We need a new system that is based on people's ability to pay.'

Street Scene Success for city

WHEN Liberal Democrats took over running City Hall three years ago, one of their first priorities was to improve the city's streets and environment.

"We've put in an extra £18.5 millions to tackle the backlog of road, pavement and lighting repairs after years of Labour neglect," says Councillor Jill Baston.

"Major 'whole street' schemes delivered for Howards and Archers Road, Romsey Rd, Portswood Broadway and Aldermoor Road. And we're planning improvements for Witts Hill shopping parade, Millbrook Road, Britannia Road and London Road."

A 'real time' bus information system is still being expanded. Car parks have been improved. Street cleaning boosted & a graffiti busting team introduced.

Councillor Jill Baston has hailed the success of Street Scene action but says: "You don't have to take our word for it - just listen to the independent Audit Commission says - "Significant success has been achieved."

Portswood Pavements Scandal...

WHEN the Liberal Democrats took over running City Hall, Labour and Conservatives ganged up to vote against plans for much needed development of Portswood Broadway.

Labour and the Tories blocked the improvements for a year, until the Liberal Democrats were able to get it re-instated.

Portswood Lib Dem candidate Steve Sollitt (pictured with Councillors Adrian Vinson and Jill Baston) comments, "This was party political game playing at its worst. But now residents and traders are able to benefit from this refurbishment."

Aldermoor Rd Car Park

Councillor Peter Galton was very pleased to see work on the car park in Aldermoor Road finally completed after years of delay.

"If Labour couldn't get this job done in a timely fashion, how can they expect us to take seriously the 100s of extra spaces they are promising at election time," says Cllr Galton, pictured below with residents who are very happy with their new car park.

Varsity Ground Make-over

IN JULY 2004 City Councillor Gerry Drake asked the Council to carry out a study to see what could be done to improve the Varsity Ground.

Now, following a successful bid for finance, the Ground is benefiting from a revamp of the football pitches, five-a-side pitches, skatepark, trimtrail and floodlit multi-use-games area, as well as landscaping.

Improvements are also planned to the basketball area, children's playground and changing rooms.

Gerry Drake says: "It is great news that local people will now be able to enjoy the benefits of all these facilities."

Bitterne Park Action

HUNDREDS of residents have signed the Lib Dem petition calling on the Government to review policies which would lead to increases in noise, pollution & traffic at Southampton Airport.

Local campaigner Keith Reed will be handing the petition in to the Government at the end of April.

Protect services

Keith Reed says Bitterne Park needs a strong voice to fight for the area. He wants action to protect local shops and services & tackle parking problems and graffiti blight.

WESTON SHORE IMPROVEMENTS

Enough is Enough!

Tackling anti-social behaviour is top of the Lib Dem agenda

WOOLSTON and Weston candidate Martin Lisle is pleased that the new public toilets have been completed at Weston Shore. The new grass-roofed toilet block includes baby-changing facilities and access for disabled visitors. Martin says: "This is good news that these long awaited improvements have now been put in place."

The Liberal Democrat City Cabinet has also given the go-ahead for a new multi-use games area on Weston Shore, close to the flats, to provide facilities for young people of the area.

SOUTHAMPTON'S Liberal Democrats have said: "Enough is enough" to those who blight the lives of so many citizens.

Councillor Liz Mizon is the city cabinet member responsible for tackling anti social behaviour. She reports that an expanded team of 17 City Patrol officers is on the streets with CCTV vans. A 24 hour 'phone line has made it easier for residents to get support from enforcement officers. During the past year alone 17 Anti-Social Behaviour Orders, 60 Acceptable Behaviour Contracts and 7 Dispersal Orders have been issued.

"Like the rest of Britain too much alcohol is part of the problem", says Liz.

"We have introduced a city centre ban on street drinking, targeting under-aged drinking with huge publicity over Christmas."

The battle against anti-social behaviour has included a boost for Youth and Play services. Schools, communities and parents are being involved as part of the solution. "We are especially proud of the award-winning Lib Dem initiative with Junior Neigh bourhood Wardens, who work with our adult wardens to improve the city."

"This problem will not be solved over-night but we have been nationally recognised by independent auditors and senior Home Office officials for the good start we have made."

Good design plans

- Action to protect character of city neighbourhoods

FOR too long the council has not had the powers to protect the character of our neighbourhoods.

Now, thanks to Liberal Democrat action, there is a comprehensive "Residential Design Guide" which sets standards for developers and insists that they protect the character of an area. It will also help residents protect privacy, right to light and the character of their street.

"This important guide is very welcome, especially in places like Bassett that have been under attack by developers," says Bassett Councillor Liz Mizon.

Action for Redbridge

Local Councillor Paul Russell has a proven record of getting action for Redbridge.

THE CITY'S Lib Dem Cabinet has given the green light to a major innovative project which will bring cheap power to many homes in the Redbridge and Millbrook area, while making a key contribution to cutting the 'greenhouse gases' which have such a harmful impact on climate change.

The Combined Heat and Power scheme will use palm oil from sustainable and renewable sources.

Another recent scheme approved by the Council will bring major improvements for Mansel Park.

Redbridge councillor Paul Russell says: "These projects will bring real benefits for local people and I am delighted we have been able to bring them forward."

DECENT HOMES FOR ALL

- 97% of city tenants recently voted to stay with council control. Investment & action to tackle crime help to explain why.

UNDER the Liberal Democrats, Southampton's housing has made great strides.

The Council is on target to meet the Government's Decent Homes standard by 2010 with £22 millions invested last year, as well as 100 empty properties brought back into use and 400 families helped avoid losing their homes.

The 6 tower blocks at Woolston and Weston were the first to benefit from Southampton's innovative warden scheme, launched by Liberal Democrat Councillor Paul Russell, Cabinet Member for Housing & Homes. Already residents have witnessed a visible drop in crime in the area and much less vandalism and anti-social behaviour.

Councillor Russell says it is the Liberal Democrat's ambition to mirror the concierge scheme city-wide over the coming years. Adoption of probationary tenancies will help curb unacceptable behaviour in council housing.

HOGLANDS PARK SAFETY IMPROVEMENTS

THE PAVILION at Hoglands Park is bright and beautiful after being painted by local artists. Lighting has been improved and shrubs trimmed back, all part of a scheme to eliminate dark corners from the parks. Further work is planned for other city parks. Local Lib Dem campaigner Ruth Liskutin says: "Increased lighting, together with extra patrols from the police and City Patrol and an improved environment will help them feel safer in the evenings."

Ceren Davis and Virginia Moore at Maybush

CEREN DAVIS has been campaigning with Lib Dem Councillor Virginia Moore for improvements in Millbrook ward.

These include resurfacing of the car park and a new exit road from the shops at the corner of Wimpson Lane and Trebourba Way, resurfaced paths and restored verges in Munro Crescent & Elmos Drive, school safety bollards and a new crossing at Tanners Brook.

A new 20mph speed limit has been introduced outside Hardmoor Copse School in Leaside Way following a request from local councillor Dave Beckett.

Cllr Beckett, pictured with Anne Milton, city cabinet member for children's services, says the speed limit is a welcome contribution to making our children safer.

Surestart for city centre children

City families will benefit from the latest project under the Government's Surestart programme with the opening of a new centre in Clovelly Road. Lib Dem campaigner Rob Holmes (pictured) has welcomed the news.
